

SPRING WHEAT

“Sweet dreams are made of wheat”

HIGHLIGHTS

- Alternative to oats as a winter kill cover crop
- Higher density (heavier seed) makes it easier to broadcast seed
- Less protein than winter wheat making it less suitable for forage

|                          |                                                                                                               |
|--------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lifespan                 | Annual                                                                                                        |
| Winter Hardy?            | No                                                                                                            |
| Root Structure           | Fibrous                                                                                                       |
| Use before               | Corn                                                                                                          |
| Average Seeds / Pound    | ~15,000                                                                                                       |
| Seeding Rate (drill)     | 40-55 lbs / ac*                                                                                               |
| Seeding Rate (broadcast) | 60-75 lbs / ac*                                                                                               |
| Blended Seeding Rate     | 25-40lbs / ac                                                                                                 |
| Blends well with:        | Radish, Turnip                                                                                                |
| Forage Suitability       | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Silage - Fair</li><li>• Hay - Fair</li><li>• Grazing - Fair</li></ul> |

*Increase rates 20-25lbs if you are planting for forage purposes